Appropriations Update

The House Appropriations Committee advanced the fiscal year 2026 National Security, Department of State, and Related Programs spending bill last week. The measure contains $46.2 billion in total funding, a 22% cut to current spending. House Budget Committee Chairman Jodey Arrington (R-Texas) has started floating the idea of enacting a full-year continuing resolution to fund the government for the next fiscal year. This plan would freeze funding at current levels for federal agencies, with Chairman Arrington suggesting that Republicans could then proceed to pass rescission packages throughout the year to claw back money previously approved by Congress. While the most conservative members of Congress have historically been opposed to the long-term use of stopgap spending bills, some are now expressing openness to this idea as a means to cut spending. The House of Representatives is not scheduled to reconvene until September 2 due to the August recess. The Senate remains in session this week before recessing until September.

E&C Advances OMUFA Reauthorization

The House Energy and Commerce Committee unanimously advanced H.R. 4273, the Over-the-Counter Monograph Drug User Fee Amendments, during a markup on Wednesday. The bill would reauthorize the Food and Drug Administration's over-the-counter monograph drug user fee program for the first time since its creation in 2020. The Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Committee plans to markup S. 2292, the Over-the-Counter Monograph Drug User Fee Amendments on July 30. The program is currently set to expire on September 30.

Executive Nominations Update

The Senate confirmed Terry Cole to lead the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) in a 50-47 party-line vote on Tuesday. Cole has spent more than two decades of his career at the DEA in various roles, but he most recently served as the state of Virginia's Secretary of Public Safety and Homeland Security. The Senate HELP Committee advanced the nomination of Dr. Brian Christine to serve as Assistant Secretary for Health at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services on Thursday. Dr. Christine is a urologist who has pledged support for the administration's Make America Healthy Again agenda and expressed opposition to gender-affirming care. If confirmed, he would be responsible for helping implement Secretary Robert F. Kennedy Jr.'s plans to create a new office within HHS, the Administration for a Healthy America, and also oversee the 6,000 member U.S. Public Health Service. Cloture was filed in the Senate for the nomination of Susan Monarez to serve as Director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. A confirmation vote on her nomination is expected on the Senate floor before the chamber's August recess.

GOP Doc Caucus Hosts NIH Director

Director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) Jay Bhattacharya, MD met with the GOP Doctors Caucus on July 17 to discuss the agency's priorities for improving medical research and the health of America. The group considered how the NIH is working to restore scientific integrity, revitalize biomedical innovation, and improve the health of Americans through gold standard science. In a press release following the meeting, Doc Caucus co-chairs Greg Murphy, MD (N.C.) and John Joyce, MD (Pa.) expressed their support for the NIH Director's "efforts to increase collaboration across government to ensure the United States is driving progress in the new frontiers of medical science."

Senate Republicans Raise Concerns With Slow Disbursement of NIH Funding

Sen. Katie Britt (R-Ala.) is urging the Trump administration to release delayed funding at the NIH. In a letter signed by 13 other Senate Republicans, the lawmakers express concern that the slow disbursement of funds appropriated by Congress "risks undermining critical research and the thousands of American jobs it supports." The letter urges the White House Office of Management and Budget to fully implement the government funding package enacted in March. "Our shared goal is to restore public trust in the NIH precisely because its work is focused on results, accountability, and real-world impact," the letter states. "Withholding or suspending these funds would jeopardize that trust and hinder progress on critical health challenges facing our nation."

Cassidy, Hassan, Marshall Urge Full Implementation of No Surprises Act

Senate HELP Committee Chair Bill Cassidy, MD (R-La.) sent a letter to the administration highlighting the need to fully implement the No Surprises Act, which was signed into law by President Trump in 2020. Cassidy, joined by Sens. Maggie Hassan (D-N.H.) and Roger Marshall, MD (R-Kan.), request rules to implement provisions in the law to give covered patients clear cost estimates before scheduled medical care. While the good-faith estimate provision has already been implemented for uninsured and self-pay patients, additional rulemaking is required to implement the good-faith estimate and the advanced explanation of benefits for covered patients. "Full implementation of both the good faith estimate and advanced explanation of benefits are critical to providing patients with the entirety of protections enacted under the No Surprises Act," the letter states. "We commend President Trump's commitment to price transparency and stand ready to assist to ensure a successful and complete implementation of the No Surprises Act."

Senate Democrats Probe New Rural Health Fund

Sixteen Senate Democrats sent a letter to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services requesting information on how the Trump administration plans to use the $50 billion rural health fund created by the One Big Beautiful Bill Act. The letter, led by Minority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.), characterizes the provision as "wholly insufficient to plug the massive hole created by the Big, Ugly Betrayal." The lawmakers express concern about reports suggesting that funds "are already promised to Republican members of Congress in exchange for their votes in support of the Big, Ugly Betrayal," and that vague legislative language will result in the fund being distributed according to "political whims."

CBO Releases Final Score of Reconciliation Bill

The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) has released its score of the One Big Beautiful Bill Act as signed into law earlier this month. CBO estimates that the law will cut approximately $1 trillion in federal health care spending, with most of the cuts coming from Medicaid, while still increasing the federal deficit by $3.4 trillion over the next decade. CBO also estimates that changes in the law will increase the uninsurance rate by 10 million people over 10 years.

WSJ Reports on Planned Changes to USPSTF

The Wall Street Journal reported on Friday that HHS Secretary Robert F. Kennedy Jr. plans to dismiss all members of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF). The 16-person Task Force was established in 1984 to advise the federal government on issues related to preventive health. In 2010, the Affordable Care Act made USPSTF responsible for determining which preventive services must be covered by health insurers without patient cost sharing. A Supreme Court decision issued in June upheld the constitutionality of the Task Force given the HHS Secretary's authority to appoint and remove panel members at will. According to the Wall Street Journal, the HHS Secretary considers the current Task Force members too "woke." The July meeting of USPSTF was recently postponed by the Secretary's office. An HHS spokesperson stated that Secretary Kennedy has not yet made a decision regarding USPSTF members in response to the article published on Friday.

DOGE Builds AI Tool to Target Regulations for Deletion

The U.S. Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) is deploying the use of a new artificial intelligence (AI) tool aimed at slashing federal regulations, according to a report from The Washington Post on Saturday. The DOGE AI Deregulation Decision Tool is being used by administration officials to analyze approximately 200,000 federal regulations to determine which can be eliminated, with the goal of abolishing half of all regulations by the end of the first year of President Donald Trump's second term in office. According to an internal administration PowerPoint obtained by the Post, DOGE plans to start training agency staff on how to use the AI this month. The next five months will then be spent working to identify regulations to eliminate, responding to public comments about the proposed deletions, and submitting formal deregulation proposals.
