Progress on FY 2026 Appropriations

Congressional progress on completing the fiscal year (FY) 2026 appropriations process continued last week. The House of Representatives passed the Financial Services and General Government and National Security, Department of State, and Related Programs Appropriations Act (H.R. 7006) in a 341-79 bipartisan vote on Wednesday. The package contains $9.4 billion in global health funding, rejecting the deeper cuts to global health proposed by the President's budget. The bill includes $524 million in appropriations for family planning and reproductive health, nearly $109 million for neglected tropical disease, $300 million for Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, and $4.6 billion for the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief. The bill now moves to the Senate where consideration is expected the week of January 26. On Thursday, the Senate passed the Commerce, Justice, Science; Energy and Water Development; and Interior and Environment Appropriations Act (H.R.6938) in an 82-15 bipartisan vote. That package now heads to the President's desk to be signed into law.

Congress has four remaining spending bills to finalize for the current fiscal year. An agreement on the next funding package, including Labor-Health and Human Services, Defense, and Transportation-Housing and Urban Development is anticipated soon. Recent negotiations have focused on language to restrict the White House from providing multi-year research grants for the National Institutes of Health as a single lump sum, as well as to restrict funding for gender-affirming care for minors. A path forward on the Homeland Security spending bill remains unclear; Democrats are demanding changes to Immigration and Customs Enforcement in light of recent events in Minneapolis. Lawmakers face a January 30 deadline to address health extenders, avert another government shutdown, and fund federal agencies for fiscal year 2026.

President Releases “Great Healthcare Plan” as Progress on Bipartisan Compromise Stalls

President Donald Trump is asking Congress to act without delay on the “Great Healthcare Plan” released by the White House last week. The plan consists of a framework of policies that support the President’s vision for lowering the nation’s health care costs. It addresses several issue areas, including lowering drug prices and insurance premiums, holding big insurance companies accountable, and maximizing price transparency. The plan would not extend the now expired advance premium tax credits (APTC), with the President having threatened to veto any APTC extension that reaches his desk.

The release of the President’s plan followed reports that the legislative text of a bipartisan Senate plan to extend the expired Affordable Care Act (ACA) subsidies will not be ready until the end of the month. Negotiators have already coalesced around several APTC policy modifications, including a shorter, two-year extension, an across-the-board minimum $5 premium, a 700% federal poverty level income cap on eligibility, and the extension of open enrollment until March 1. While Sens. Susan Collins (R-Maine) and Bernie Moreno (R-Ohio) – the lead negotiators – had previously indicated that the text could be released last week, disagreements reportedly remain related to abortion funding restrictions.

The ACA open enrollment period ended on January 15. Approximately 1.4 million fewer people have enrolled in coverage compared to last year. This figure is less than the 2.2 million decrease projected by the Congressional Budget Office in the case of an APTC expiration, though experts caution that further attrition is likely in the coming months as enrollees face premiums that are more than doubling on average.

Senate HELP Committee Advances Four Health Bills

The Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Committee voted unanimously to advance the following health-care bills on Thursday:

- The Protect Infant Formula from Contamination Act (S. 272), which aims to improve the safety of infant formula through testing of infant formula for microorganisms and toxic elements;
- Tyler’s Law (S. 921), which would direct the Secretary of Health and Human Services to issue guidance on whether hospital emergency departments should implement fentanyl testing as a routine procedure for patients experiencing an overdose;
- The Women and Lung Cancer Research and Preventive Services Act (S. 1157), which would direct the Secretary to review the status of research on lung cancer in women and underserved populations; and
- The Rural Hospital Cybersecurity Enhancement Act (S. 2169), which would require the development of a comprehensive rural hospital cybersecurity workforce development strategy.

The bills now await consideration by the full Senate.

Grassley Report Details “Gaming” of Medicare Advantage by UHG

Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) has released a report detailing the findings from his investigation into UnitedHealth Group’s (UHG) Medicare Advantage (MA) billing practices. How UnitedHealth Group Puts the Risk in Medicare Advantage Risk Adjustment asserts that UHG uses its advanced data assets and data analytics capabilities to maximize its workforce’s ability to capture diagnoses. According to the report, the company has also identified opportunities and strategies to increase its capture of untapped risk score garnering diagnoses and uses its provider workforce to implement those strategies. The report notes that other MA organizations also contract with UHG for such diagnosis capture and coding opportunity insights.

Republican Study Committee Releases Reconciliation 2.0 Framework

The Republican Study Committee has released a framework for a second reconciliation bill proposing $1.6 trillion in tax and spending cuts. The framework promises to “deliver health care freedom and lower drug prices by redirecting subsidies away from big insurance companies and into the hands of the American people, eliminating regulatory barriers that increase the price of drugs, and promoting choice and competition.” The framework was developed using an AI tool dubbed the “Byrd Bot,” which was developed to generate legislation compliant with the Senate’s Byrd Rule. GOP leadership in both the Senate and House of Representatives have cautioned that there is no consensus on the path forward for a second reconciliation bill.

Wyden, Pallone Question Child Immunization Data Measurement Change

Senate Finance Committee Ranking Member Ron Wyden (D-Ore.) and House Energy and Commerce Committee Ranking Member Frank Pallone (D-N.J.) have written to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) urging the agency to reverse its decision to drop child immunization measures from the Core Set of Children’s Health Care Quality Measures for Medicaid and the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP). The lawmakers characterize the decision as “a dangerous abdication of the agency’s responsibility to monitor the quality of care provided to nearly half of our nation’s children.” They ask CMS about what evidence it used to determine that vaccination rates are no longer a core measure of child health quality, whether legal reasons exist for modifying these preventative care standards, and whether CMS intends to measure or monitor childhood immunization rates among children with Medicaid and CHIP coverage.

Florida Rep. Neal Dunn, MD to Retire

Rep. Neal Dunn, MD (R-Fla.) announced his plans to retire last week, withdrawing his re-election bid to the House of Representatives. Rep. Dunn, a urologist, has represented Florida’s second congressional district since 2017. He currently serves on the House Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on Health.
