Judiciary Republicans Subpoena Insurance Providers for Documents About ACA Marketplace Fraud

House Judiciary Committee Chair Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) and panel Republicans are subpoenaing health insurers participating in the Affordable Care Act (ACA) marketplace citing allegations of fraudulent use of federal subsidies. The eight insurers subpoenaed include Blue Shield of California, Centene Corporation, CVS Health, Elevance Health, GuideWell, Health Care Service Corporation, Kaiser Permanent, and Oscar Health. The lawmakers reference a recent Government Accountability Office report which found billions of dollars in unreconciled ACA subsidies per year and examples of tens of thousands of Social Security Numbers subject to potential fraud. The subpoenas demand details about each company's fraud protection measures, requesting a response by February 23.

Banks Asks FDA to Detail Plan for Enforcement Against Certain GLP-1 Compounders

Sen. Jim Banks (R-Ind.) has written to Marty Makary, MD urging the Commissioner of Food and Drugs to take enforcement against compounded weight-loss medications that are being marketed by telehealth and online pharmacy platforms. Sen. Banks suggests the agency consider the feasibility of requiring more explicit warnings on those websites in violation of federal drug law. He also asks the commissioner to expound on a recent statement that the Food and Drug Administration would work to limit the active ingredients used to make "non-FDA-approved compounded drugs that are being mass-marketed by companies... as similar alternatives to FDA-approved drugs." The letter follows Banks' introduction of the Safeguarding Americans from Fraudulent and Experimental (SAFE) Drugs Act (S. 3794), which would impose new restrictions on compounding pharmacies to prevent the mass marketing of non-FDA-approved drugs.

HELP Chair Cassidy Requests Details on Cyberbreach

Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Committee Chair Bill Cassidy, MD (R-La.) is investigating a recent data exposure that took place within the Illinois Department of Human Services (IDHS). Sen. Cassidy's letter to Gov. JB Pritzker (D) requests detailed records from the exposure. "Protecting the privacy and security of sensitive health information is essential to ensure that patients receive the best care and that their information is not misused," Sen. Cassidy wrote. "Despite IDHS' role in helping vulnerable communities, its repeated failures to implement basic security processes highlight IDHS' disregard of its responsibility to over 4.6 million Illinois residents."

HHS Personnel Changes

Several notable personnel changes were announced at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) last week.

- HHS Deputy Secretary Jim O'Neill and General Counsel Mike Stewart will not remain in their current positions, but are reportedly being offered other jobs within the administration.
- Arman Sharma has been hired as the Deputy Chief Artificial Intelligence Officer. Sharma is a recent Stanford University graduate. During his time in school, he co-authored a book on the economics of medicine with current National Institutes of Health Director Jay Bhattacharya.
- Director of the Center for Medicare Chris Klomp is the new chief counselor at HHS and in charge of overseeing all Department operations. He will retain his current role as well while reporting to Secretary Robert F. Kennedy Jr. HHS Chief of Staff Matt Buckham will become Senior Counselor for Operations and Personnel, and HHS Chief Policy Adviser Ken Callahan will become Senior Counselor for Policy. Both will report to Klomp.
- At the Food and Drug Administration, Deputy Commissioner for Human Foods Kyle Diamantas and Deputy Commissioner for Policy, Legislation, and International Affairs Grace Graham have been appointed senior counselors. They will also remain in their current roles.
- Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Chief Policy and Regulatory Officer John Brooks will also serve as senior counselor while remaining in his current role.
